FareWitness™ Establishes Patent Priority for the Future of Verified Reality

Berthoud, Colorado — October 26, 2025 — FareWitness™, a limited liability company, announced on FareWitness.com it's intellectual-property priority for its breakthrough authenticity-verification technology. The filings — USPTO 63/875,290 and USPTO 63/904,937 — collectively define a new standard for verifying truth in digital and physical records.

FareWitness combines secure-element hardware, cryptographic truth capsules, and distributed-ledger verification to ensure the authenticity, provenance, and accountability of recorded events. The system includes physical and digital embodiments — such as the TruthCoin™, TruthKey™, and TruthStick™ — that provide real-time capture and validation of identity-verified data for journalism, legal, environmental, and scientific applications.

“Our goal is to protect reality,” said Richard J. Stoner, inventor and founder of FareWitness Ltd. We’re building a trust layer for the world — one that lets every human or device prove that what they witness is true, untampered, and accountable.”

Stoner, known globally as the Father of Aeroponics and featured on the History and Discovery Channels for his pioneering telemetric leaf sensor technology, previously collaborated with NASA to develop advanced data-logging and monitoring systems for both Earth and space research. Having built multiple successful innovations in scientific sensing, Stoner is once again founding a new platform for truth and verification — leading the emergence of the Truth Economy through FareWitness.

Benjamin Turner, formerly with Accenture Europe and co-inventor, stated, “The FareWitness technology will be the lifeblood of journalists and others.” Stoner added, “Court systems are in dire need of this patent-pending FareWitness technology (known as FW Technology™),” citing recent reports of deepfake probate-court fraud in the news (Fox News).

FareWitness is founded on the mission of “Protecting Reality — The State and Condition of Everything™.” The term “Fare,” as used herein, refers to “the state or condition of things.”

FareWitness operates at the intersection of human integrity and cryptographic certainty. Each device or application generates a secure, cryptographically signed truth capsule that is verified through the FareWitness™ distributed ledger, producing an Authenticity Credential — a digital seal of verified truth.

With these filings, FareWitness enters the next phase: product introduction on Kickstarter.com in 2026, with additional patent filings underway to expand protection of the FW Technology™ platform.
